It is a mournful and admonitory fact that at each of these annual gatherings we are called upon to record the departure from earth during the interval of our session of one or more of the ministerial members of our body. It solemnly reminds us that our own labors may soon terminate, and that we should use all diligence to give "full proof of our ministry" and to "finish the work" which our Master has given us to do.

Among our fellow laborers who during the past year have exchanged the scene of their earthly toils for the reward and rest of Heaven, our beloved brother demands a grateful tribute of recognition on our part.

The record of his life and labors has already been given to the church through the columns of the Episcopal Methodist, by one long and intimately associated with him. We freely use the material thus furnished in this obituary notice.

Bro. Baird was born at New Liberty, Lycoming Co., Pa., November 4th, 1815. He was converted to Christ in early life, and, so far as we are cognizant of his subsequent history, maintained a consistency of deportment to the close of his career.

He was educated at Alleghany College, Pa., and graduated at that Institution in 1841.

He was received as a probationer of the Baltimore Annual Conference, March, 1842, and appointed to Sunbury Circuit. He was ordained deacon by Bishop Morris, March 17th, 1844, and elder by Bishop Janes, March 15th, 1846. In 1843, he was assigned to Huntingdon Circuit; to Calvert Circuit in 1844; to Montgomery Circuit in 1845; to Harford Circuit in 1846; to Charles Circuit in 1847-8; to Patuxent Circuit in 1849-50; to Liberty Circuit in 1851-2; to Woodstock Circuit in 1853-4; to E. Rockingham Circuit in 1855-6; to Hillsboro Circuit in 1857-8; and to Winchester Circuit in 1859-60. From September, 1860 to July, 1866, he was in charge of the Wesleyan Female Institute, at Staunton, Va. During this period, one of great anxiety and embarrassment, his prudent management maintained the Institution in existence till more prosperous times dawned upon it. From 1867 to 1871 he was Presiding Elder of Winchester District. In 1871 he was appointed to Loudoun Circuit; in 1872 to Berkeley Circuit, and from March, 1872 to August, 1874, was in charge of the Baltimore Episcopal Methodist. In these various positions of responsibility and trust, he discharged his duty with that conscientious fidelity which characterized him in every relation of life.

Bro. Baird was a man of decided culture and taste; he brought to the exposition of truth, to the tutorial profession, and to the editorial chair, the resources of a clear and well disciplined mind.

His social traits were of such a character as to commend him to the confidence, esteem and friendship of a large circle of acquaintances. His frank, genial and kindly disposition, which endeared him to all with whom he was associated, had its fullest and freest manifestation within the hallowed precincts of his own home. There, as the devoted husband and father, he exemplified those gentler virtues that impart to the domestic circle its highest interest and charm. There, where he was best known he was most loved, and now that he is gone is most lamented.

His was indeed "the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit." Modest and unobtrusive, he never sought publicity; neither did he refrain from entering any sphere of active duty to which his ministerial obligations called him.

For some time before his death, his constantly declining health foretokened his early departure.

During the last session of our Conference, sickness confined him for most of the time to his room, and when occasionally present, his pallid face and attenuated form awoke our tenderest solicitude and sympathy. The fears then aroused were too sadly confirmed. On the 13th of August, 1874, he closed a life of faithful service by a peaceful and triumphant death. He had repaired shortly before his death to the mountains of Virginia, with the hope of deriving some benefit from their bracing air and healing waters; but his case was beyond the reach of all remedial agencies. Too much prostrated by disease to return to his own home, he lingered for nearly three weeks beneath the hospitable roof of Rev. E. F. Hetrick, of the Baltimore Annual Conference. There, tenderly cared for by the entire household, "and blessed with the unwearied ministrations of the devoted companion of his life," he breathed his last.

The pastor of his family thus describes his closing hours, of which he was an eye witness. "He talked freely of his hope and assurance in Christ, and the blissful Home which he was about to enter. The name of Jesus dwelt upon his lips. Precious words of scripture, and lines of hymns which he had long been familiar with and loved, were the vehicles by which he conveyed to sorrowing friends that stood around his couch his bright hope of eternal life. When I asked him, 'Do you know me, Bro. Baird?' he replied very earnestly, 'Yes,' and I know Jesus, my Saviour. He was told that a number of the preachers wished to be remembered to him; he said, 'give my warmest christian love to all the members of the Baltimore Conference.' When he had become so feeble as to be unable to articulate distinctly, he was requested to raise his hand if all was well; immediately his hand was uplifted. It was his dying testimony to the love of Jesus, and the sustaining grace of God, his Saviour. A little while afterwards, without a struggle or a groan, he passed gently and peacefully away.

MEMOIR OF LORENZO D. NIXON.

Rev. Lorenzo D. Nixon was born in Loudon Co., Va., July 28th, 1811. He was converted to God under the ministry of Rev. C. B. Tippet, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, in Leesburg, Va., September 27th, 1828. He was a local preacher about eight years. He was received into the traveling connection by the Baltimore Conference, held in Baltimore city, March, 1854. From that time until his death, he was uninterruptedly engaged in the active itinerancy. He was appointed to the following charges: In 1854-5 to Little Levels Circuit, Pocahontas county, Va.; in 1856-7 to Sweet Springs Circuit, Monroe county, Va.; in 1858-9 to Monterey Circuit, Highland county, Va.; in 1860 to Warm Springs Circuit, Bath county, Va.; in 1861 to Blue Sulpher Circuit, Greenbrier county, Va.; in 1862-3-4 to Monroe Circuit, Monroe county, Va.; in 1865 to Frankford Circuit, Greenbrier county, W. Va.; in 1866 to Fairfax Circuit, Fairfax county, Va.; in 1867 to Mt. Carmel Circuit, partly in Clarke county and partly in Fauquier county, Va.; in 1868-9-70 to North River Mission, located in Hampshire county and Hardy county, W. Va.; in 1871-2-3-4 to Farmwell Circuit, Loudon county, Va.

Bro. Nixon was a model of meekness and simplicity. Though lacking in demonstrativeness, he won the confidence of others by his unobtrusive and consistent piety. He was systematic in his labor, and attended with care to all the duties of a Methodist preacher. Such was his method, that, though his death was sudden, the affairs of his circuit were so nicely arranged that no confusion resulted therefrom. He was a faithful and laborious servant of Christ. He was a man full of faith and the Holy Ghost. Many were born again through the Word he preached. He was not subjected, like some, to tedious sickness prior to death; but survived only a few hours a stroke of paralysis which ended his earthly toil. He was conveyed to his home by a friend, a physician, and there on the 28th of January, 1875, he passed from labor to his eternal rest.

MEMOIR OF REV. RICHARD S. SHREVE.

Richard S. Shreve was the oldest son of William and Mary Shreve. He was born October 5th, 1839, in Alexandria county, Va., and, together with his wife, was killed by lightning, on the 25th of June, 1874, at the parsonage of Upper Botetourt Circuit, Botetourt county, Va., in the 35th year of his age, and the 6th year of his itinerant ministry.

He was consecrated to God in childhood, and grew up in the church. He enjoyed the rights and privileges of the church; and also the benefits of pious example and religious instruction at home.

He was educated at Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., graduating in 1860, in the same class with P. H. Whisner, J. L. Shipley and B. F. Ball, of our Conference.

In the fall of 1860, he took charge of a school at East New Market, Md. While there, he entertained the idea of studying law, and procured books for that purpose; but, before the close of the year he abandoned the idea, and determined to yield to his convictions of duty, and enter the christian ministry, and at once procured license as an exhorter. Soon after, the war came on, he returned to his home in Virginia, joined the Confederate army, and remained in the service until the close of the war. While in the army he made use of his exhorter's license in conducting religious services in his battalion; holding prayer meetings, reading the Scriptures, and exhorting his comrades, as occasion offered.

At the close of the war he engaged in farming, in Alexandria county Va., meanwhile serving the church acceptably as a local preacher.

On October 5th, 1865, he married Miss Fannie E., daughter of Travis Epps, Esq., of Nottaway county, Va., a refined and accomplished lady, in every way worthy of her noble husband.

In March, 1869, he was admitted into the travelling connection, in the Baltimore Conference.

His first field of labor was Lafayette Circuit, Montgomery county, Va.; his second, Laurel, Anne Arundel county, Md. At the close of this year's labors, March, 1871, he asked for and obtained a location, with the view of removing and settling in Kentucky. His brethren, however, were loath to part with him, and protested against the move; and at the instance of brother W. G. Coe, the Presiding Elder of the Lexington District, he was induced to take charge of Monterey Circuit, Highland county, Va. At the end of the year he was re-admitted into the Conference, and returned to the same field. He served the people on Monterey Circuit three consecutive years, ending March, 1874.

In these fields of labor he was diligent and faithful, and God owned and crowned his labors with a large measure of success.

At our last Conference he was appointed to Upper Botetourt Circuit. He repaired to this field of labor with high hopes, and a determination to labor more diligently than ever in the cause he loved so well. He soon became endeared to the people of this Circuit. Indeed he was a "workman that needed not to be ashamed." His preaching was plain and practical, but characterized by originality of thought and earnestness and force in expression.

He was an improving man, and would doubtless have taken prominent rank among his co-laborers of this Conference, had his life been spared.

On the last Sunday before his death he preached with great warmth and pathos, and was so much moved himself that he was compelled frequently to brush away the gathering tears.

He loved his work. In a letter to one of his brothers, written June 23d, but two days before his death, he said "Fannie," his wife, reminds me that just ten years ago this afternoon, I was wounded in battle. Things have changed since then. Ten years! how has the time gone? What have I been doing? Ten years more! who can tell what they will bring? I hope, if God spares my life and gives me strength, that I will accomplish more than in the ten past.

Thus we get an insight into the workman's mind and heart. He was laying his plans, and promising himself to be more useful, to accomplish more for his beloved Master

Thursday, June the 25th, the day of his death, he spent in pastoral work. And at the very moment when the summons came, was about engaging in evening worship with his family.

"The mortal arrow that pierced his frame," was the summons to join the worship of the Church above. The worship was suddenly interrupted, the interruption was, doubtless brief—begun on earth, continued in Heaven.

His body, with that of his wife, was conveyed to his old home. Funeral services were held in our church, in the village of Falls Church, conducted by Bro. L. H. Crenshaw, after which the bodies were borne away and deposited in one grave, in the old family burying ground, in Alexandria county, Va. There they lie asleep in Jesus. "Lovely and pleasant in their lives, in their death they were not divided."

Your committee feel that this memorial paper would be incomplete, were no mention made of a brother who, though not formally a member of this Conference, died in the active work, doing noble service in our behalf. We refer to who left the church militant for the church triumphant, October, 1874.

We have no data from which to furnish any detailed account of his history prior to his coming among us. He was for a number of years connected with the Virginia Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, and, so far as we have been informed, labored with great acceptability and usefulness in that connection, sustaining throughout a character of unimpeachable christian integrity.

Several years ago he severed his relation with the M. P. Church, moved to the city of Baltimore, and identified himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. At our last annual Conference he applied for admission into the traveling connection, but owing to some informality in the application, final decision on his case was postponed to the present session. Desiring however, to be actively employed, he applied to Rev. Dr. Martin, presiding Elder of Rockingham District, for work, and at his instance took charge of Port Republic Circuit—at that time promising neither pecuniary support, nor spiritual success. Feeble in health, and, according to all human probabilities, having nothing to excite hope or encourage effort, he may literally be said to have gone by faith.

Addressing himself earnestly to his work, he visited from house to house, praying with the people, conversing with them upon religious subjects, and with every opportunity that offered exhorting sinners to repentance. These earnest pastoral labors, combined with his faithful pulpit ministrations, resulted, under the blessing of God, in a gracious revival of religion. More than one hundred souls were happily converted to God, most of whom connected themselves with our branch of the Church of Christ. Enfeebled in frame when he entered upon his labors, and having had little or no help during the progress of them, he was finally prostrated by exhaustion and disease, and in full tide of success, and amid the tears of his people,

“His body with his charge laid down,
And ceased at once to work and live.”

His end was one of remarkable tranquility and christian triumph; and such was the vital power infused into the church by the work through which it had passed, that the membership, without any ministerial oversight or aid, maintained the regular services of the church, apart from preaching, without any abatement of interest after Bro. Haines' death. Our brother's record is on high; and while he is there resting from his labors, his works, in their rich and abiding fruits, follow him on the earth, PENNYBACKER.

Mr. Wesley very early discovered the value of the press for the moral as well as intellectual improvement of the people, and in his diligent use thereof, gave to Methodists an illustration of its power that they will neglect at their peril. The publication and circulation of a sound religious literature is a work, the importance of which can scarcely be reckoned. In this work our Publishing House at Nashville is earnestly engaged, and in the face of serious difficulties, is maintaining its position; printing and preparing for circulation such a literature as we need. But they are largely dependent on the travelling ministry and the church at large for its distribution. Your committee therefore recommend increased diligence in the circulation of the books, periodicals and papers published by this house, and feel sure that thus we may best aid this great interest of the church, and, at the same time, benefit the people.

It is a question which deserves perhaps, more attention than it has been lately receiving—whether our people are as fully acquainted with our Discipline, Hymn Books, and Standard Doctrinal Works as they should be—and may well commend itself to the serious examination of all our preachers in charge of Circuits and Stations. If the lack exists, self-preservation should impel us to use immediate means to supply it.

We commend to the liberal patronage of all our people, the Baltimore Book and Publishing Company, in charge of Rev. Eugene R. Smith. Here they may be supplied with our literature, on as favorable terms as at any other place.

We submit the following resolutions:

1st. We cordially recommend our Sunday School Periodicals to the general use of our Schools, and the Nashville Advocate to every family of our Conference.

2d. That we continue the Southern Review, edited by Rev. A. T. Bledsoe, L. L. D., and Mrs. S. Bledsoe Herrick, and now published in Baltimore, to the liberal patronage of our people.

ON BIBLE CAUSE.

COMMITTEE.

Revs. E. WELTY, J. H. TEMPLE, J. M. FOLLANSBEE, E. CARBACK, R. L. NEVITT.

The committee on the Bible Cause beg leave to report :

They learn from the agents of the Maryland and Virginia Bible Societies that there is an encouraging advance in the Bible work in each state. In the State of Virginia, where the work has been revived and re-organized, in the last four years about 60,000 volumes of the Bible and parts of the Bible have been sent to Depositories in different parts of the State. While much destitution has been supplied, much yet remains to be supplied. The cause is suffering in this State from the fact that Pastors and Churches fail to co-operate with the Society.

The whole amount of cash received for this cause, by your committee, is $76.75 ; of which, $39.05, coming from Maryland, was paid to Mr. Cole, the agent of the Maryland Bible Society ; and the remainder, $37.70, from Virginia, to Rev. Mr. Rowe, the agent of the Virginia Bible Society.

The entire amount of Bible money raised during the year, as reported to the Statistical Secretary, is $604.35.

The amount from the respective Districts is as follows :

Baltimore District.....	$90 23
East Baltimore " .....	133 29
Washington " .....	242 86
Winchester " .....	18 00
Rockingham " .....	59 25
Roanoke " .....	20 30
Lewisburg " .....	8 00
Lexington " .....	21 40
Moorefield " .....	11 02
	$604 35

The amount reported last year was $371.44; comparing this with the collection for the present year, we find an advance of $232.91. While this is a considerable comparative increase, it is evident we are not measuring up fully to our duty in this important work. We therefore offer the following resolutions:

Resolved, 1st. That it be recommend to all the Pastors of the different charges to preach on the subject of the study and the circulation of the Word of God, and to take up a collection to aid the Bible Society in this specific work.

Resolved, 2d. That a cordial welcome and a hearty co-operation be given to the authorized agents of the Bible Society, whenever they shall visit the pastoral charges in the bounds of this Conference; and that all amounts of money, whether collected by the Pastors themselves or the agents, be carefully noted and duly reported at Conference, so that the church may have full credit for all she is doing in this department of christian work.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Signed,

E. WELTY.

ON EDUCATION.

COMMITTEE.

Clerical.—P. H. WHISNER, WM. K. BOYLE, L. H. CRENSHAW, T. E. CARSON, S. S. ROSZELL, J. W. DUFFY, P. B. SMITH, A. WELLER, G. H. ZIMMERMAN.

The committee on Education beg leave to report.

We are thankful to the Great Head of the Church for the degree of prosperity which has attended our Institutions of Learning, and the interest in the cause of Education among our people, as evinced in the liberal patronage of our schools and the amount of money contributed.

We are of opinion that much has yet to be done to awaken a due interest in the subject, and trust that the efforts of the Conference to that end will be patiently and persistently continued. We can but feel that to our church is committed a great work in this regard.

We recommend that the letter of the Secretary of the Board of Trustees of Randolph Macon College, the address of the President of the College, and the report of the Financial Secretary be published with the Minutes of the Conference.

We recommend the adoption of the following resolutions.

First. That the sum of $2000 be assessed by the Board of Finance upon the Districts of the Conference as an Educational Fund, to be raised during the year.

Second. That the sum of $30,000 be apportioned to the Districts by the Joint Board of Finance, this apportionment not to have the force of an assessment, but of an urgent request and recommendation of the Conference, and that the Presiding Elders appoint one or more of the Preachers of the District to co-operate with the officers of the College, in their efforts to raise said amounts as a Building Fund for Randolph Macon College.

THE WESLEYAN FEMALE INSTITUTE,

At Staunton, Va., continues to enjoy a large measure of prosperity.

The 9th Annual Report of the President, Rev. Wm. A. Harris, D.D., shows that during the year this school has received a liberal patronage; fully maintaining its hold upon the public mind as a first class Institution.

The standard of education is high, and there is a deep religious element in the College society by which the hearts of the pupils are reached, and their souls converted.

There has been a gracious revival during the present year. The known character of the College makes it unnecessary to say more.

WEST VIRGINIA FEMALE SEMINARY.

This Institution is in the third year of its existence, starting under favorable auspices; it has not disappointed the expectations of its friends and patrons.

It is located in Union, Monroe county, W. Va., a section, lovely in its natural scenery, healthful and accessible, where we need an Institution of its character, and where we believe it capable of doing much good for the church and for society.

MONTGOMERY FEMALE COLLEGE.

The Montgomery Female College at Christiansburg, Va., under the Presidency of Rev. S. K. Cox, D.D., is enjoying a high degree of prosperity.

This Institution, located on the summit of the Alleghany, in a section remarkable for its healthfulness, is easy of accessibility.

The building, erected originally for the purpose for which it is now used, is large and commodious; and the grounds, susceptible of the highest improvement, are tastefully arranged. The College is steadily growing in favor, and is doing a most important work for the cause of education and the church. Its course of instruction is thorough, its character and standard high, its discipline mild and firm.

Your committee recommend the following resolution :

Resolved, That this Conference recommends the Montgomery Female College to the patronage and support of the church.

THE LONOAK FEMALE COLLEGE,

At Martinsburg, under the management of Rev. Jno. P. Hyde, A.M., is hereby heartily commended to the patronage of our people in its vicinity.

THE VALLEY FEMALE COLLEGE.

The committee is gratified to report that since the meeting of the last Annual Conference, there has been marked improvement in the status of the Valley Female College, under the efficient management of the President, Rev. B. F. Arbogast, A. M.

Its patronage has been advanced from 40 pupils, in attendance last year, to about 70 pupils this year. This increase has been partly in boarders, and partly in day scholars.

These pupils have been faithfully taught by five competent and laborious teachers. All the boarders, with one exception, are converted and are members of the church of Christ.

In addition to the facilities already provided for the accommodation of boarding pupils, arrangements have been perfected, and the money provided to make extensive additions to the buildings, both for the comfort of the boarding pupils now there, and for the accommodation of others still to come. These improvements will be commenced as soon as Spring affords suitable weather, and when furnished will give us a building with 40 rooms, and a capacity for 75 boarders. With these advantages secured, the outlook is most hopeful and encouraging for the Valley Female College. We commend this young Institution to the favorable notice of the Conference, and predict for it a future of great usefulness to the church.

Resolved, 1st. That the Bishop be requested to appoint a visiting committee to each of the above named Institutions.

2d. That the Presidents of said Institutions be required to notify the visiting committees of the time of holding their examinations and commencement exercises.

3d. That the committees be required to present a written report of their visits, not later than the second day of the Conference, to be laid before the Committee on Education.

REPORT
PRESIDENT OF RANDOLPH MACON COLLEGE, MADE TO THE
Baltimore Conference, March, 1875.

Mr. President and Brethren :

Amid all the disabilities consequent on the pecuniary embarrassment of our people, Randolph Macon still continues to serve the Church with gratifying success.

The number of students this session is 215. Of these, fifty-seven are from your Conference bounds, seventeen are preparing for the itinerant ministry in your Conference, and six are sons of your ministers.

THE PRESENT TIME UNFAVORABLE TO COLLEGE EDUCATION.

For various reasons I regard the present as the most unfavorable period for collegiate education that I have ever known. Many obstacles are in the way. Some who highly appreciate such an education are too poor to aspire to it. In many instances parents have become poor since the infirmities of age came on them, and they now need the children's presence and work for the care of the homestead, and support of the family. In the case of others, whose circumstances are more comfortable, there is, in the present excited and unhealthful state of the money question, a very natural fear of expending their limited means on what is regarded as a bare chance of securing a compensative education for their children. All the funds such persons can command they feel anxious to invest where the return will be largest and speediest.

Meanwhile, among the richer portion of our population there is, as I am sorry to know, a painful lack of interest in collegiate education. Some of these rich people have very little culture, and estimate the ability to succeed in a lucrative employment as the most desirable talent one can possess. The only College some of these persons are disposed to patronize is one at which a boy can learn to write a good hand and keep accounts. Many persons of large income seem to have false notions of the value and the dignity of human intelligence. They are filled with exaggerated conceptions of the grandeur of wealth and the splendor of vulgar display. Their carnal notions of a successful life depreciate mental and moral attainments, and divert the energies of their children from all literary and scientific plans and pursuits.

Temptations to expensive living were never more abundant and seductive. Extravagance discourages economy and exhausts cash and credit. Where this disposition characterizes any considerable portion of a population, social evils must always be developed as the legitimate consequence. Bankruptcy will be frequent. Common honesty will deteriorate. Public confidence will be impaired. Overtrading, overliving, excess in everything, and more or less corruption in almost every avocation will cease to excite surprise. But all this unfits a generation for the calm, true work of collegiate education.

BUT COLLEGIATE EDUCATION NEVER MORE NEEDED.

And yet never was this work more needful to the country. Sound sense and well disciplined character were never more demanded. It is sad to see what a small portion of the bustling, pushing, world-seeking, throng around us care for thorough education, and more lamentable still to see what a meagre minority of that small portion take a deep interest in Christian education. Only a few out of a great multitude strive for the truth; seek for the best form of human life, and are ready by faith and works to promote the Kingdom of Christ. Such things as lands, houses, stocks, rich raiments, costly viands, and the like, figure largely in the millennial dreams of thousands. A noble contentment with moderate means, a calm pursuit of some quiet, honest employment, and a steady growth in wisdom and piety are despised by those whose lives feed on false excitement, and whose hopes are limited to animal gratification.

THE CHURCH COLLEGE AN INVALUABLE AGENCY.

It is the office of the Christian Church to teach people a more excellent way.

It is by such Institutions as Randolph Macon that the Church may largely counteract low and false notions of human life, and interest the uncorrupted rising generation in wiser principles, better plans, and purer ends. It is the moral worth of a Christian College that the Church ought to make the world appreciate. The greater number of our population will of course, so far as they care for education at all, think it quite enough that they pay the school tax and sustain the free schools, and when the Church attempts to engage in this education work various forms of opposition quickly present themselves. All the indolent are opposed to it. All the stingy are opposed to it. All envious and jealous-minded men who favor nothing that does not exalt themselves are opposed to it. It is impracticable to remove all these various obstacles of a good cause. But we should keep clearly before the public mind a proper representation of the work we propose the Church College shall do, and strive at the same time to correct all misapprehensions of our plans and the character of our enterprise. Among these false notions of the Church School is that which regards it as a mere beneficiary or beggar at the door of charity, while the State School occupies a more respectable position. But let us remind people that all Free Schools, State Universities, Agricultural, Mechanical and Military Institutes are as truly beneficiaries and beggars as the Church Schools are. The only difference being that the collectors for the Secular Schools are tax-gatherers who can make people contribute to education, while the collectors for the Church Schools are preachers who can only ask people to contribute. No State Schools sustain themselves. You sustain them by annual contributions, and you do this cheerfully, because you believe they are valuable to the temporal welfare of the country. But higher than all secular, temporal, utilitarian ideas, such as originate and sustain State plans for education, rises the idea which finds its expression in a Church College.

RANDOLPH MACON COLLEGE A GREAT BENEFACTOR.

We must not allow people to look on our College as a beneficiary, to be sustained by their alms; but as a great benefactor—a producer—a manufacturer—a generous church agency for distributing innumerable blessings. The Church College is an engine of vast power, doing an immense work, and needing regular and ample supplies to keep it in the best running order for good work. Its necessary wear and tear will demand resources for annual restoration ; and every new addition to its efficiency will call for an increase of its income. But its demands ought to be cheerfully met, just as cheerfully as we take stock in any good enterprise, or pour out our richest gifts to promote the best interests of our fellow creatures.

Last April, at the call of the Board of Trustees, a convention of certain representatives of the two patronizing Conferences was held in Richmond, to consider the interests of the College, and especially to concert measures for raising a building and endowment fund. In this meeting the Baltimore Conference was ably represented. The convention expressed itself in favor of the most liberal and extensive plans for the future operations of the College. It declared that a half million of dollars ought to be devoted to this great work, and especially urged that fifty thousand dollars should be raised at the earliest day practicable, for the purpose of erecting more suitable College buildings. The convention also ordered an address to be prepared and published in connection with the published proceedings of the meeting, which should bring these matters strongly before the friends of the College. That address was published, and I present a copy of it to be filed among your records of the College.

At the last session of the Virginia Conference the work of the convention was most cordially endorsed, and the Conference adopted a plan for raising $50,000 during the present Conference year. Since Conference a considerable sum has been subscribed to this fund. The details of these financial plans, and the exact figures expressing the amounts realized, will be furnished you by the Financial Secretary.

It is for you to say what share the Baltimore Conference will take in this work, and by what plan you will proceed.

During last summer, while travelling within the bounds of this Conference in the interest of the College, I was taken ill, and thus prevented from visiting our people as extensively as in former years. But our patronage, as the figures show, has been well sustained, and we have every reason to be grateful and encouraged.

Instead of saying more in this report, I beg leave to add to it the accompanying address of the convention, which I greatly desire may be circulated freely among our people.

Very respectfully submitted,

JAS. A. DUNCAN,

AUDITING COMMITTEE.

This Exhibit was submitted to the Board of Trustees at their last annual meeting, by whom it was referred to the Hon. Thomas Whitehead and Edward S. Brown, Esqs., as an auditing committee, and as their report is an official recognition of the fidelity with which I have striven to perform the duties of my office, you will pardon me for appending it, as follows :

To the President of the Board of Trustees :

The Committee to whom was referred the account of receipts and disbursements of the Financial Secretary during the past fiscal year, respectfully report that they have examined the same. They found the items of disbursement sustained by proper vouchers; and were most favorably impressed with the care and accuracy with which your Financial Secretary has kept his accounts. They also examined his books, and found them not only kept with great neatness, but arranged by a plan admirably adapted to secure accuracy in detail and fullness of information to those who may have occasion to refer to them.

Your Committee observe the gratifying fact that the accounts of the present year, compared with the year preceding, show an improvement in the financial condition of the College.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

EDWARD S. BROWN,
THOMAS WHITEHEAD.

PATRONAGE.

I am happy to inform you that the patronage of the College has been well sustained. We report to date, March 1st, two HUNDRED AND FIFTEEN STUDENTS; of whom 117 are from the Virginia Conference; 57 from the Baltimore Conference; 17 from that part of North Carolina not embraced in the Virginia Conference; 2 from Georgia; 5 from Mississippi; 1 from Tennessee; 5 from Louisiana; 1 from Alabama; 6 from Texas; 3 from Pennsylvania; 1 from New York. Forty-five (45) are preparing for the ministry; 25 are sons of our itinerant pastors; 18 are on ante-bellum scholarship; 5 gave their notes for the tuition fees, and 122 pay their College fees in full.

Bishop Doggett was called to the chair, and Paul Whitehead appointed Secretary.

After full and free conference and discussion, the Convention resolved that the sum of FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ought to be raised by the Virginia and Baltimore Conferences, as a building and endowment fund for the College, and "in view of the immediate demands of the College," determined to raise FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS by the 1ST OF JANUARY, 1875.

For this latter purpose, the following plan was adopted :

I. That delegates shall be appointed (by the committee under item III), consisting of one layman and one preacher in each District, whose duty it shall be to present the subject to the several District Conferences at their meetings during the summer and fall of this year, and take up collections for this object, and that the Presiding Elders be requested to arrange the exercises of their District Meetings so as to secure one whole day for the interests of Randolph Macon College.

II. That we earnestly solicit the co-operation of the Presiding Elders and Dis-strict Conferences in this great work, and request the appointment of meetings in the several pastoral charges in which this cause shall be presented, and collections taken.

BRETHREN AND FRIENDS :

The action of the CONVENTION is before you. We can say nothing that will add to its significance.

It must impress you that the meeting of such a CONVENTION, and the resolutions it adopted, signify an earnest and decided step forward in the work of christian education. It is desirable that all our friends shall appreciate this movement and unite their efforts to make it successful. Allow us, therefore, to engage your attention to these points, which will, we hope, interest you in this work.

Let us briefly glance at a few facts in the history of the College ; at its prospective work ; and at its present immediate wants.

ORIGIN AND HISTORY OF RANDOLPH MACON.

Origin of the College. It has an honored history, with which the older member and friends of our church are familiar. But for the information of our young people, and many new friends a few facts, at least, should be stated.

Founder. To the late Rev. H. G. LEIGH, D. D., belongs the honor of being the first mover and advocate of this enterprise, in the Virginia Conference of 1826. The ablest as well as the oldest members of that body cordially approved of the measure.

First Agents. In 1827 it was unanimously resolved that every member of the Conference would be an agent to procure funds for the College. This shows with what zealous unanimity our fathers began this work.

Trustees. In 1829 twelve of the most venerable and distinguished members of the Conference were elected as the first trustees. The following year a charter was obtained.

All the South to patronize it. In 1832 RANDOLPH MACON commenced its work. At that time it was hoped that most of the Southern Conferences could be united in this enterprise. But in a few years those Conferences founded colleges for themselves.

North Carolina Conference. The North Carolina Conference, which in 1836 was formed by dividing the old Virginia Conference, continued, until a few years before the late war, to sustain the College. But finally it also turned its attention to a College within its own territory, and the care of the Institution devolved upon the Virginia Conference alone.

Removal of the College.

After the war the College was removed from its former site near the border of North Carolina to its present location. The Baltimore Conference united in its support, and it commenced its new career.

Baltimore
Conference

Faith, the
First Capital

II. On what capital was the work originally commenced?

On nothing but faith in God's blessing upon poor men, who were convinced that the church needed such a College, and were resolved she should have it. Randolph Macon is not a monument to the princely gift of any rich patron. It commemorates the more princely power of faith and prayer which prevail with God and men in christian work.

Sources of Revenue.

Little by little funds were procured as they were needed.

For many years, small contributions, the sale of scholarships, and the regular tuition fees were the only sources of revenue. The largest sum which any one has ever given at one time to this Institution, has been five thousand dollars! Some ten years before the war, when the College was struggling against many difficulties and greatly in need of funds, Dr. LEROY M. LEE, while editor of the R. C. Advocate, in a series of editorials, awakened a new interest among our people on this subject of education. Coincidentally, the Rev. H. B. COWLES and the late Dr. WM. A. SMITH, by extraordinary exertions, secured an endowment fund of one hundred thousand dollars. By the Endowment.

Losses by the

war nearly the whole of this was lost. Since then, the small portion remaining has been expended or hypothe-cated in the effort to resuscitate and keep it in operation. In the meantime, many bonds held by the College became worthless. Some of these were endowment bonds. Old subscriptions were repudiated; but some persons, to whom the College was indebted, did not hesitate to annoy and embarrass it by law suits in the midst of its difficulties;

Scholarships.

and holders of old scholarships began to insist on having them honored, without discount, as soon as the College was re-opened, and before it could even pay its own necessary expenses.

Success.

Notwithstanding these various obstacles to success, with the same faith which originally laid the foundations of RANDOLPH MACON, its friends went forward earnestly to re-establish it upon a basis broader and firmer than ever.

It rapidly grew in public favor. Its patronage exceeded anything that had ever been realized in its former history.

Prospective Work.

III. Prospective work of the College, and plans for it.

The College represents in the two patronizing Conferences seventy thousand communicants, and some three hundred thousand friends, whose sympathies are specially with these people. To serve the wants of all these persons, in respect to collegiate education, is a great work for an Institution.

Population Represented.

To educate the sons of more than three hundred ministers free of charge; to educate young men preparing for the ministry free of charge; to educate the sons of nearly four hundred thousand people, so far as they may desire a collegiate education—this is a great work! But consider, also, how rapidly these numbers are increasing, and observe at the same time the increasing interest of the people in education. Besides, let it be remembered that the patronage of the College is not confined to the territory of the two supporting Conferences. The incidental patronage from States South and North of this territory is becoming larger every day. For the religious service of the population which the College represents, in our church alone, more than two hundred thousand dollars are expended annually.

Increased interest in Education.

Patronage in other States.

Plans Proportioned to the Work.

Now what plans should be made for such a College? Remember, this is not a mere District High School. It is to serve every district in two Conferences! In Virginia alone the amount expended on free schools for a single year, ending August, 1872, was $993,318.59. The value of the school property the same year was $387,672. These figures will help one to form some idea of what plans we should make, if we have respect to the greatness of the work we propose to do.

$500,000 not too Much.

To those who have not reflected upon this matter $500,000 may seem to be a large sum for the CONVENTION to name; yet, nearly a million is expended for the little children of Virginia in free schools in a single year! But the CONVENTION names $500,000 as a final amount for the long future years of the College. The interest, at 6 per cent., on this amount, would be $30,000. Out of this provide buildings, libraries and salaries for professors, and see if there will be a surplus. If we had twenty professors, with an average salary of $1,200, that alone would consume the interest on $400,000. Then only $100,000 would remain for buildings, libraries, apparatus, &c. At ten per cent. that would only be $10,000. Has the CONVENTION been extravagant in its calculations?

Little Allowance for Tuition Fees.

In our plans for the future very little allowance can be made for income by tuition fees. The tendency of the times is to free education. By the public school system the people are being trained to expect it. Moreover, it should be our policy to put the privileges of the College, as far as practicable, within the reach of the poorest member of the church.

The Poor to be Respected.

Ability of the Church.

But can the people we represent raise this amount of money?

If we look at a few facts we must be convinced that this amount is not too great for the ability of our people, even in the present state of the money market. Out of nearly 400,000 members and friends of the church suppose 50,000 persons (one-eighth) would average five dollars each—$250,000, one-half of the whole sum would be secured. Could not the remaining seven-eighths raise as much? Take another view. From 200,000 persons, 50 cents a piece for five years would pay the whole amount. Consider further: There are 20 men within the bounds of the two Conferences who could each, in two years, with ease pay $25,000; but this would make the whole sum of $500,000. At one cent per week, 50,000 people in two years pay $520,000. Now we say nothing by these figures about the plan for raising the money; but we do say that they show at a glance that the amount named does not exceed the ability of so large a population.

How to make this Ability Available.

The only question is, how to make that ability available.

The CONVENTION has wisely proposed to employ the regular machinery of the church for this purpose. The plan, as seen above, is simple and systematic. Nothing is necessary to make it efficient but earnest hearts and diligent efforts.

IV. The immediate necessities of the College.

Present Necessities.

1. The most pressing demand is for adequate College buildings. Our present accommodations are actually more extensive than the College ever had before. Yet they are not of such a kind as are needful for our work.

Buildings now used.

Except a Literary Hall, recently erected by the students themselves, the buildings used were originally provided for persons who came to Ashland as a summer resort. They are of such perishable materials as to need a large annual outlay to keep them in proper repair. This is equivalent to a heavy rent for our own houses.

Economy to Build.

Hence, even as a matter of economy, it is to our interest to erect new buildings as soon as possible. But, besides, observe that the houses now used are, at best, only accommodated to our wants. They lack the proportions, convenience and appearance which buildings specially designed for College purposes should have.

This is the pressing, urgent want of the College. It is for this, first of all, the CONVENTION says we should have $50,000. Delay to provide these buildings would seriously injure us. As temporary structures every one will respect the tasteful little cottages we now use. But as permanent College edifices they would be at once costly and contemptible.

A reproach to us not to Build.

It would be a grave mistake, and bring a reproach on the church, to allow these houses to remain much longer as the only edifices for such an institution of learning. Inadequate provisions for our work endangers a disastrous reaction in our success. This we cannot afford. It would undo the work of years. How much thought, care, toil, expense and time has the present prosperity of the College cost? We cannot afford to lose it.

The patronage demands it.

Observe this fact: While other Colleges have ample accommodations and are begging for patronage, RANDOLPH MACON begs the church for room for her students! This is a notable fact. It is also a powerful appeal! Fail to respond to it, and we lose the tide which ought to be taken at its flood.

A deep interest on the subject of education has been awakened among our young men. They crowd to our halls by hundreds, and ask the church to educate them. More students are now at RANDOLPH MACON than at any College in the South. The increase of our numbers has been, for the last five years, steady and healthful. Nor is it attributable to any sensational efforts. By deserving success we have gained it. It is easier to maintain prosperity than to begin it. This success is not the forced flower on a feeble plant. It is the recompense of no fitful and irregular cultivation. Shall it be properly understood and provided for? Twenty thousand people at 5 cents per week, for one year, would raise $52,000. This would meet the demand.

Additional Instructors.

2. Coincident with this demand for buildings should be mentioned additional instructors.

The present corps of professors are overworked; they are, in fact, doing double duty. They have generously agreed to this, for a limited time, with the understanding that the church would presently provide the College with the means to relieve them of this pressure. But no man could, or should, for a long series of years, do the full work of two professors. It is so obviously wrong to impose these burdens on useful men, that we need say no more concerning it except to remind you that on such terms it is impossible for a College to retain the most efficient men in her service.

We have placed before you, in brief, condensed form, this important matter, about which volumes might be written.

The Convention merely Representative.

Need we urge you to think on these things. Why are we, rather than yourselves, the representatives of this cause? Our share in it is no greater than your own. We are advocates simply by accident of position. Trustees owe their importance only to the interest they are appointed to serve. The CONVENTION was only that part of yourselves which could be made available to speak in the name of the common good. The young men we strive to educate are your own sons. The church we would build up is your own church. The College belongs to you. As your agents,

The College
belongs to the Church.

we make a report to our principals, setting forth interests you expect us to represent. Would you not despise us if we did less? Would you not denounce our want of fidelity if we allowed this great work to suffer without your knowledge? Would you not charge on us the failure of an honored Institution—too valuable, too sacred to be sacrificed without shame? What editor, what preacher, what layman would withhold his scorn against trustees, College officers, and an Education Convention that under such circumstances made no such effort as we make to-day?

A shame for such an Institution to fail.

Read again what we have done, and what we have written about it.

The world's work costly.

Look at it in the light of the world's work, which is now going forward so wondrously around you. See the costly enterprises for worldly ends. A single theatre costs more than the entire sum we would raise. A first-class hotel could not be built and furnished for it in any of our cities. A few private dwellings would consume the whole sum.

Duty of the Church to educate her children.

Look also at the world's educational work. In the name of earthly interests alone, shall the world do more for education than we whose aims are Christian and eternal? If we desire to lose our children from the Church, what more certain and effective method could we adopt than that of educating them out of it? Not only educating them out of the Church, but, alas! educating them into the world!

Pretty and intelligence should be combined.

How fearfully Satan has succeeded in divorcing intelligence from piety! making men strong for mischief! Who will rise up for us against these evil doers? Who will meet these giants of error and sin? We must bring forward the young men of the Church strong in the true combination of piety and intelligence. Give up education to the world, and we put into its hands the most formidable weapon it can wield against the Church.

Other Churches moving.

Our sister churches are moving vigorously in this work. So are our sister Conferences in the South and West. We cannot abide safely in our tents of ease when the air is full of the noise of this battle.

We should be worthy of our fathers.

Let us be worthy of our fathers! Reproduce the spirit which founded the College! Repeat the energy which made RANDOLPH MACON what it is to-day! Add the greater gifts which an enlarged faith makes possible, and a deeper charity makes joyful!

Let us be in earnest.

Put up buildings—employ more instructors—enlarge the libraries—endow the professorships. Say to the world, we, too, are in earnest. Say to other Churches and other Conferences, we are one with you in this mind, and not behind you in the work.

This not a temporary, but permanent work.

The call we make is not for something temporary—transient—but for permanent provisions. We desire to render it unnecessary to return, over and over again, with the same appeals for a work which needs endless amendments. Let it be seen now what can be done when we undertake to do a great work for generations. Let it be shown that our people are ready to give—to give cheerfully—to give greatly! We will not insult Christians by dread-

Not rich for the world, yet poor for the Church.

ing they will be illiberal in such a cause. In their business affairs they are enterprising; they risk large sums; they are courageous and liberal. Is it only for the Church we may expect to find them mean, timid and ungenerous? We are not discouraged by the language we hear: "The people are too poor"—"the work is too great"—"the difficulties are insuperable." All three of these declarations are false. Poor people they are, but not too poor to be rich in good works, and to do great things when every one does his portion, however small. The work is great, but not too great for 70,000 Christian communicants and all their thousands of friends to accomplish. The difficulties are numerous, but not insuperable for Christians who have faith in God and zeal for the work.

The great work which poor men have done for Christ.

Poor people were those disciples of Jesus whose names now burn in splendor upon the jeweled foundations of the Church. Great was the work of converting capitals of heathen empires into Christian centres of power; but it was done. Many were the difficulties against which our fathers struggled before leaving us the comfortable Christian heritage we enjoy; but those difficulties seemed only to multiply the heroic energies of the strong old Calebs who gloried if the honor of the hard task done might be theirs, counting it a victorious joy to scale and capture the strong heights of Hebron.

Best use for money.

For what better service will our people withhold their gifts from the Church effort? What is there in wealth to envy, except its capacity for such work? Into what results can money be converted that its recompense may be nobler? What investment will make richer returns of strength to the Church, good to society, and even profit to secular interests?

Opportunity for rich men to do noble things.

We may well be astonished if those whose means afford them the privilege of being munificent shall neither be moved by Christian benevolence, secular enterprise, personal ambition, nor any other inspiration to devote to such a cause a princely gift! Surely the present inviting moment in the history of the College shall attract the sympathy of some men whose hearts are as generous as their means are ample. What an opportunity to bestow at once on their own names and on generations following the blessings of a noble charity!

Any one contributing "$20,000 shall have the privilege of naming a Professorship in the College." What a monument may one, who has the means, erect for himself by making the contribution!

The treasury of faith and charity.

To that Christian love that "never faileth" to that zeal that never ceases while a good work needs to be done, we turn as to an inexhaustable treasure in the house of God.

Memorial volume.

A memorial volume, in honor of the patrons of Christian learning, is ordered by the CONVENTION, to be kept at the College. Here there will be enrolled thousands of honored names, which shall be for a remembrance and for an inspiration unto good works. Shall it not become the complete roll of all our communicants in the two Conferences? Let not the name of one be left out. It should be a grand record for future generations.

God's memorial book.

But far better than this, a book of remembrance is kept before God of our work for him here on earth. It is written there of every good man: "Thy prayers and thine alms are come up for a memorial before God." "Prayers and alms" should never be separated. In this cause we specially design they shall be united. Give and pray God to bless the gift. We wish, in every pastoral charge; at every appointment on every circuit, special prayer may be made for the success of this effort of our College. "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it."

The great end at last to be served.

In faith and love in Christ Jesus we ask your earnest co-operation: "That we may grow up in him in all things which is the Head, even Christ; for whom the whole body fitly joined together and compacted by that which every joint supplieth, according to the effectual working in the measure of every part, maketh increase of the body unto the edifying of itself in love."

This Exhibit brings to your attention the following interesting and suggestive facts, viz: 1st. That the patronage of the Baltimore Conference, as a whole, has improved, as compared with last year, 39 per cent. 2d. That this improvement has been realized mainly from the East Baltimore, Washington and Moorefield Districts. 3d. That to the Moorefield District belongs the honorable distinction of having yielded the largest number of students in proportion to the numerical strength of the Church. Thus, for two successive years this District has borne the banner of this important Church work.

THE BUILDING AND ENDOWMENT FUND.

This subject has been brought to your attention in a communication from the Board of Trustees, and I bespeak for it a prompt and liberal response. We have recently received within the bounds of the Virginia Conference, several liberal responses to our appeals in behalf of this fund. One of our brethren, Mr. James B. Pace, of Richmond, gave us $10,000, payable in the coupon bonds of the State of Virginia, with the promise of $5,000 more next year. Our brother, Thomas Branch, of Richmond, has given $5,000, payable in like manner. We have also a number of subscriptions, payable in current funds, amounting to about $6,000. We have also a proposition from Trinity Church, Richmond, to erect a building costing about $3,000. And the Churches in Petersburg, Virginia, have taken steps for the erection of a building, costing about $5,000, as a memorial of our venerated brother, D'Arcy Paul, of Petersburg. Thus, in the Virginia Conference, we have made a beginning in this good work, but only a beginning. What shall be done in the bounds of the Baltimore Conference? What shall be done in Washington city, during the progress of this Conference? What shall be done in Baltimore, and Alexandria, and in all your cities and circuits, stretching from the mountains to the sea?

Leaving you to answer these questions, and thanking you for your attention, I am, dear brethren,

Very truly,

ALEX. G. BROWN,

Secretary Randolph Macon College.

Ashland, Va., March 4th, 1875.

Richmond, March 2, 1875.

To the Presiding Bishop and Members of the Baltimore Annual Conference of the M. E. Church, South.

DEAR BRETHREN:

By instruction of the Board of Trustees of Randolph Macon College, I send you this communication. The favor which the College has found among the people is a matter of great congratulation, and reflects credit on the faculty and general management. The extraordinary financial distress of the country, which has proved disastrous to so many schools, has scarcely affected Randolph Macon, the number of matriculates this session being 215. The yearly assessments by the two patronizing Conferences for an educational fund have proved of great value; indeed they have been, and still are, essential to the success of the institution. We earnestly request that this admirable plan be continued, and that it be worked more efficiently so as to raise the whole amount assessed. We rejoice with you in the number of candidates for the itinerant ministry, and of sons of itinerant preachers who are educated without charge for tuition, by the aid of this fund.

At the call of this Board, a convention of friends of the College was held in the city of Richmond last April. After careful deliberation, with scarcely a dissenting voice, they resolved that $500,000 ought to be raised to completely furnish and endow the College, and that $50,000 should be raised at once to meet immediate and pressing needs, especially for such ample and commodious buildings as our large and growing patronage demands. We believe that there was absolute unanimity of sentiment on the importance and feasibility of raising the $50,000. The action of the convention was cordially endorsed by the Trustees at their annual meeting in June. We now look to your body for effective co-operation in this great work. We recommend the adoption of the following plan, with such modifications as your wisdom may suggest.

1. That the Baltimore Conference seek to raise $30,000 for the College, to be expended in the erection of suitable buildings, under the direction of the Board of Trustees.

2. That a committee be appointed by the Conference to apportion this amount among the circuits and stations; this apportionment having the force, not of an assessment, but of an urgent request and recommendation of the Conference, in order to distribute the burden equitably on all the Churches, for the support of a common interest.

3. That all the preachers be solicited to do their utmost to secure the full amounts apportioned to their respective charges; and that in addition the Conference request and urge such ministers as the President and Financial Secretary of the College shall select, to aid them in traveling through the Conference and appealing to the people in behalf of this fund; and that the Churches be affectionately asked to consent to such absence of their pastor as may be necessary to carry out this great enterprise.

The Board requested the Virginia Annual Conference to undertake to raise $50,000 upon this plan. We are glad to report that they very heartily resolved to do so, with a not very material modification of the plan.

With high esteem and brotherly love, yours,

J. C. GRANBERY,

Secretary.

ON SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

COMMITTEE.

Clerical.—W. A. McDONALD, R. SMITHSON, J. C. DICE, J. H. DULANEY, W. H. WILSON, W. C. MALOY, L. H. BALDWIN, S. B. DOLLY, J. H. WOLFF.

Lay.—S. G. DONOHUE, WM. J. KING, H. F. ZIMMERMAN, W. L. NOLAND, J. H. H. FIGGATT, J. G. COX, F. P. RHODES, WM. FISHER.

The committee beg leave to report.

That the numerical increase, enlarged facilities for instruction, and healthy growth of our schools, as well as the deepening interest of our ministers and best people in this co-ordinate department of christian enterprise among us, is a proper ground for gratitude to God.

This important work is justly engaging the attention of our people generally, and is becoming a matter of deeper solicitude to all, especially the best minds in our church.

The legitimate mission of the Sunday School in its relation to parental, pastoral and the pulpit instruction of our children, and their early conversion, is becoming more clearly defined, and Sunday School effort is being directed into the only legitimate and scriptural channel of helping both christian parents and pastors in their divinely fixed and responsible mission to the children of the church.

Their juvenile state demands the early attainment of scriptural knowledge, the early awakening of conscious responsibility, and their early personal consecration to God, and acceptance of Jesus, as their personal Saviour. Our schools must be brought into a nearer and more vital relationship to the truth as is in Jesus, through the pulpit, pastorate and other means of grace. Our little ones must be recognized as an integral part of the fold of Jesus; and parental, church and ministerial consciousness must be roused to the onerous import of the words of the Divine Master, when he said, "Feed my Lambs."

As an element of power in evangelizing the world and bringing the children and families of the ungodly in contact with the Gospel, and means of grace and salvation, the Sunday School cannot be overrated.

Nor dare we fail in carrying out the wise provisions of our discipline, which requires schools to be organized where 8 or 10 children can be found, without incurring fearful responsibilities. Let the discipline be carried out in all things, especially in this.

Our Sunday School literature, under the wise, laborious and efficient efforts of Dr. A. G. Haygood, is worthy of all confidence. It eschews most of the cheap jewelry and trashy stuff which have been but too popular, prevalent and damaging. Our safety lies in strictly adhering to our own publications.

We deem the Sunday School Conventions, held within our bounds, as tending to increase the interest and usefulness of the schools, and to extend knowledge of such great value in conducting Sunday Schools.

We report the following resolutions for adoption by the Conference :

1st. That our preachers in charge are directed to preach on the relation of children to the church, and see to it that schools are organized where 8 or 10 scholars can be found ; that we most heartily recommend our preachers and people to get, read and digest Dr. S. Regester's book on "Children and the Church," as a most timely and valuable work.

2d. That Dr. A. G. Haygood's valuable services as Sunday School Secretary, should by all means be made available in all our schools, by the use of our own books, catechisms, lesson papers and Sunday School periodicals, in preference to all other publications.

3d. That all legitimate means should be employed to awaken the missionary spirit among our people and schools, and we hope the cheap, good and useful little paper, "The Missionary," will be largely patronized.

4th. That we regard the Sunday School publication of Bro. E. R. Smith, Baltimore, Md., as valuable assistants in our Sunday School work.

5th. That we urge our Sunday School workers, as far as practicable, to attend the meetings of the Sunday School Convention of this Conference.

Respectfully submitted,

W. H. WILSON, Chairman,

J. H. H. FIGGATT, Secretary.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON COMMUNICATION FROM THE MISSIONARY SECRETARIES.

COMMITTEE.

REVS. L. R. JONES, WM. H. SEAT, A. W. WILSON, A. A. P. NEAL, A. A.
ESKRIDGE, A. Q. FLAHERTY, JAS. BEATTY, J. H. H. FIGGATT, F.
HEREFORD.

The Special Committee to which was referred the communication from the Missionary Secretaries of our church, respectfully report the following address to the people of our charges.

DEAR BRETHREN:

In their annual address to the Conferences of our church, the Missionary Secretaries use urgent and emphatic speech. Their words are as follows: "In the foreign field, we are doing less than any other church in Christendom, with anything like our members and resources. Confession and repentance become us. If we do not move forward, we shall be discredited in the eyes of the christian world. If we refuse to do our part of the Mission Work of the age, we shall be greatly, if not irreparably damaged in all the elements that constitute a spiritual and aggressive church. An unmissionary church cannot be truly or permanently prosperous."

It is a sorrowful day in our history when such an estimate of the relations of our church to Missions can be made up. Our avowed purpose from the beginning has been to "spread scriptural holiness through all lands." To this we are called and committed by our origin and history, by the labors, sacrifices and energy of our fathers, into whose hardly acquired heritage of spiritual wealth and distinction we have so easily entered; by the truest and highest impulses of our christian experience. To abandon this expansive characteristic of our church, or remand it to the rust and decay of indifference and neglect, is surely, to forfeit the Kingdom of God committed to us, to the occupancy and rule of a people who will bring forth the fruits thereof. No excuse is admissible, no evasion tolerable. The fundamental conditions of life will not yield to any exigencies of circumstance. The life of the church is absolutely dependent upon the faithful and persistent performance of all the vital functions. Go—go into all the world—preach the Gospel—preach to every creature. For these ends the power of the Lord—the same Lord over all—is pledged, and the church that loses sight of these has not the smallest shadow of claim to any participation in the gift of power. We are indeed in danger. The penalty of failure is certain, and, at this time, the record is against us. Look at the statement. From 1870 to 1874, our own Conference, which reported at its last session twenty-five thousand members, contributed to the cause of Missions twenty-six thousand dollars—but little more than twenty-five cents per annum for each member. The statistics of the last year show a very slight improvement, presenting an average of twenty-eight cents per member. Is that the measure of our ability? Is it an adequate supply for the need of the world? Or is it merely the measure of our fidelity to our trust and to our Methodism? The actual condition of affairs is even more strikingly indicated by one or two facts. In one district of our Conference, numbering over two thousand five hundred members, more than one-half of the assessment for Missions is paid by a single church of about three hundred and fifty members. The rest of the district, more than two thousand in number, does not pay the balance. In one church of two hundred and seventy-five members, the entire Missionary assessment is paid by the contributions of less than seventy-five—the remainder never giving one dollar towards the fulfillment of the Lord's most cherished purpose—the very travail of his soul. These are not isolated cases. Unfortunately they but too fairly represent the general condition of the church. We think we do not exaggerate in saying that not more than one-third of the entire membership of our Conference furnish aid to the church in this essential department of work. Shall this be regarded and treated as a normal and healthful state? Is the greatest of all the ends of Christ—the consummate result of all divine labor and sacrifice—to be postponed to our lust and luxury, or made to wait upon our convenience? Has the love of Christ lost its constraining power, or can the vast majority of the claimants of His favor plead exemption from all the highest obligations of discipleship?

Depend upon it brethren, you cannot escape. From the mite of exhausted poverty and the munificent benefactions of colossal wealth, the Lord Jesus draws His resources alike. He demands and needs them all. The world will not be saved without them; the heathen will not be given to the Son until the wealth and the want of the christian church be alike devoted to Him. The selfishness, the covetousness, the prejudice, the unconcern, that hinder or qualify the supreme consecration, are positive enemies to the Cross of Christ. Let us take heed to ourselves that we lose not the things we have wrought; but that we receive a full reward.

The Board of Missions sends to you an earnest, almost tearful appeal. The very smallest amount needed for the work opened to us and in our hands, is asked. To discount this is to entail suffering upon the heroic men separated of God unto this work, and to force curtailment and contraction. Curtailment is poverty. Contraction is decay. There is no need of either. We have enough and to spare. Bring all God's tithes into His storehouse, and earth will not hold the blessing that must follow. Heaven must open to make room for it.

To meet the claims it is imperative that every one should do something, each according to ability, as God judges it. The sum required is small for twenty-five thousand members to pay in one year. It ought to be supplemented, multiplied by the free will offerings of grateful hearts who owe all to the Gospel.

We commend to you our Missionary Paper, a small inexpensive record, that you may be fully informed as to the condition and needs of our Mission work.

We exhort you to an earnest study of the Word of God, that you may learn the greatness of your obligation in this direction.

We urge you to tireless prayer, that God may pour the spirit of zeal and liberality and power upon His whole church.

Finally we commend to you the rich recompense of the participants in this work—"they that turn many to righteousness shall shine as the stars forever and ever."

May the God of all grace make you to abound in this grace, that from you the word of the Lord may sound out in every place.

Your committee further recommend the adoption of the following:

Resolved, That each preacher be required to devote one Sabbath during the year at each appointment, to the enforcement of the obligation to aid in the Missionary enterprises of the church upon the consciences of all our people.

A. W. WILSON, Chairman.

We recommend for your adoption, the following resolution:

Resolved, That the members of the Joint Board of Finance for the ensuing year, be, and they are hereby directed, to correspond with the Pastors and Recording Stewards of the several charges in their respective Districts, and keep themselves advised as to the probabilities of the collection of the funds necessary to meet the demands upon the Board, and to urge additional collections when necessary.

The Board having duly considered the paper referred to them by the Conference, respectfully submit the following

PLAN OF FINANCE.
FOR CIRCUITS AND STATIONS.

Believing that the mortifying deficiencies which from year to year are reported by our preachers, arise more from a want of some systematic plan well carried out, than from a want of ability to pay, we recommend the following plan for your adoption:

I. At the first Quarterly Conference, after the Stewards shall have ascertained the amount of the preachers' allowance and the Presiding Elder's claim, and apportioned the same to the several appointments of the charge, and determined in how many installments the yearly contributions shall be paid, in accordance with the discipline, then let the Stewards, with such other judicious brethren as they may call to their aid, assess the amount it is expected to raise at each appointment, upon all the members of the Church, individually, according to their several ability.

This assessment to be regarded as a suggestion as to what, in the judgment of the Stewards, each member ought to pay, and what is necessary to meet the demand.

II. This being done, the Stewards should see all the members of the Church as soon as practicable, and if possible, get them to agree to their assessments; if not, then say what they will contribute.

III. Then let a Church Conference be called at the earliest possible day, at every appointment, and let the Stewards announce what has been done.

Each Steward shall keep in a book the names of the members assigned to him, with the amounts assessed to each, and he shall be expected to see that the amounts assessed are brought up in full.

IV. Let a Church Conference be held at the close of each quarter, at every appointment, and let one of the Stewards read out what has been assessed and how much has been paid by each member at said appointment.

The preachers shall urge our people to a more general attendance upon the Church Conferences; and it shall be the duty of the Presiding Elders to aid in this matter, and urge its importance upon both preachers and people, wherever it may be necessary.

We earnestly recommend that no man shall be elected to the office of Steward out of mere compliment; and that no inefficient person be retained where it is possible to secure the services of men otherwise qualified according to the discipline, who would probably be more diligent and efficient in matters of finance.

The attention of our preachers and people is hereby called especially to paragraph 4, Section I, Chapter IX, page 156 of the discipline, on this subject.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN LANDSTREET, Chairman.

A. POE BOUDE, Secretary.
